LESS NOISE ON JULY FOURTH

Discharge of Firearms Forbidden in the Compact Part of the City

At the last meeting of the police commissioners, the matter of July 4 celebration in the way of noise was brought up and much attention was given to the same by the board at this session.

It was voted to instruct the police department that the discharge of revolvers and guns in the compact part of the city be not allowed, and that the chief of police and officers see that such action as necessary be carried out to check it.

Consequently the boys, and not a few women, who have, in the past, been in the habit of parading back and forth on Congress, Pleasant, Market and other business streets of the city with dangerous firearms, will have to do their shooting away from that section or the police, under instructions, will gather in the guns and ammunition.

For years this section of the city has been the stamping ground for all kinds of noise makers and the commissioners are determined to stop that which is classed as dangerous.

No objection will be made to any other brand of noise or which goes with the occasion, but the reckless use of firearms is prohibited at all times, July fourth included.

Miss McInnis Entertains a Merry Company at Her Home on Bennett Street

Miss Sarah McInnis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nei McInnis of D-nott street was pleasantly surprised by a number of her young friends on Wednesday evening. The company brought along with them a handsome silk umbrella which was presented shortly after their arrival by William Connors.

The remainder of the evening was given to music and games dear to the hearts of the young people and included piano selections by Misses Buckley, Hogan and Timmons. Miss Katherine Ryan added much pleasure to the occasion by her artistic violin work. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, fruit and candy were served by the host who proved an ideal entertainer.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S OLDEST ODD FELLOW

Nathaniel Hobert of Brookline is not the oldest Odd Fellow in New Hampshire despite the recent observance of the sixty-second anniversary as a member of the order.

He is outranked more than three years by Daniel Mason of this city.

Mr. Mason joined Siloam Lodge at Boston in September, 1843. Shortly after that he moved to Portsmouth and when Piscataqua Lodge was organized in May, 1844, he deposited his transference card on the very night that the new lodge was formed. At the next meeting his name received a favorable vote and he became a member of the new lodge, which membership he still retains.

Mr. Mason was formerly in the lumber mill business. He is well preserved, hale and hearty and enjoys life at his home on Middle street, in the lodge room and about the city with his friends.

While all this enforcement of automobile speed limit laws in neighboring towns is in progress, the laws of this town in regard to speeding are brought to mind. Although the limit here is eight miles an hour, few machines travel at less than twice that rate, and any attempt at enforcement would be an astonishing proceeding. In the same conscientious manner the laws concerning brown tail moth notices are enforced. Some time ago residents were warned that all trees not cleared of the pests would be stripped by the town and the cost of the work charged to the property owners.

A PORTSMOUTH WOMAN GRAND CHIEF COMPANION

Close of Convention of New Hampshire Companions of Forest

The biennial convention of the New Hampshire Grand Circle, Companions of the Forest, closed a two-day session in this city today with the election and installation of officers for the next two years. The new officers were installed by the retiring grand chief.

Other Business Today

Next convention was voted to be held at Hampton Beach on the fourth Wednesday of June 1911.

The retiring Grand Chief Companion, Mrs. E. T. O'Connor of Claremont, presented to Constitution Circle of Portsmouth an ivory and gold gavel for initiating the most beneficial members during the past year, and to Mrs. Mary Campbell of Constitution Circle a gold bar and pin, Forester's emblem, for bringing in the most names of beneficial members.

Votes of thanks were extended to Admiral Moore, commandant of the navy yard, the management of Frank Jones Brewing company, and to Companion W. A. Cullen, for courtesies extended.

The members were greatly pleased with Portsmouth as a convention city.

Late on Thursday

Thursday afternoon's session came to order at two o'clock and this was principally to hear the reports of the officers and the committees. They showed that the circles were in good order and that there had been an increase in membership during the last year.

At three o'clock a recess was taken and under the direction of the local Lady Foresters, a trip was made to Frank Jones' brewery and an inspection made of this big plant.

At seven o'clock the delegates with a large number of the local circle, boarded special electric cars for Hampton Beach. Here they enjoyed a shore banquet at the Casino and passed the remainder of the evening dancing. The return was made after midnight and everybody was much pleased with the trip.

GOULD TRIAL NEAR THE END

Last of Testimony Is Likely to Be Heard Today

SESSION FAR INTO NIGHT

Actor Farnum's Name Again Figures Prominently—Witnesses Say Plaintiff Drank Moderately and Was Not Affected by Wine That She Took—Not in Habit of Using Language Other Than What It Should Be

New York, June 24.—Counsel for Katherine C. Gould, who is suing Howard Gould for separation and $250,000 a year alimony, labored long and late Wednesday and it was 11 o'clock when court adjourned last night. This, the first nocturnal session since the trial began more than three weeks ago, was granted by Justice Dowling in order to clean up the remaining testimony in rebuttal by the plaintiff's witnesses, excepting, perhaps, Mrs. Gould herself, if she desires to testify.

But after last night's session Counsel Shearman announced that he still had two witnesses to call. The case will go on today when a deposition of Dustin Farnum, the actor who has figured so prominently in the case, will be submitted in Mrs. Gould's behalf.

The testimony submitted and depositions read for Mrs. Gould yesterday and last night, taken as a whole, cover in rebuttal all the incidents of the various motor trips that she is alleged to have taken to cities in which Farnum was playing. Also it sought to prove that Mrs. Gould drank moderately, principally with her meals; that she was not affected by the wine she took; that her language was never other than what it should have been; that she saw Farnum only in the company of others, and that there was nothing out of the ordinary in her attitude toward him.

Thirty-six witnesses in rebuttal have thus far been called, and it is expected that Mrs. Gould will again take the stand today in the hope of weakening her husband's counter-charges. With the exception of Mrs. Elijah Sells, Mrs. Gould's cousin by marriage, who testified during the day, and the deposition of her daughter, Marjorie, which was read at night, the testimony for the most part was that of servants and employees of various shops.

Miss Sells' narrative bore out that of her mother, favoring Mrs. Gould as to her association with Farnum and testifying as to her sobriety at all times.

After this deposition came a corroborative deposition from May Robinson, the actress. The actress was not sure about the number of nights she had slept in Mrs. Gould's room, but she was positive she had used one of the twin beds in Mrs. Gould's bedroom. Her characterization of Mrs. Gould's conduct coincided with that of Miss Sells.

NONE HEARD HIS CRIES

Helpless Invalid Witnesses the Deliberate Suicide of His Wife

Chicago, June 24.—Deprived of the use of his limbs by paralysis, John Bonnett was compelled to witness in helpless terror the deliberate suicide of his wife who calmly placed a chair under a gas jet near her invalid husband's bed, and to the fixity tied a rope.

Unheeding her husband's frantic screams she affixed the noose and kicked the chair from under her feet. There she hung until life was extinct, her husband, exhausted by his cries, durably following with his eyes the slow turning of her form as the rope twisted and untwisted. This motion had ceased when a neighbor happened in and discovered the tragedy.

Indicted For Murder

Woodstock, Vt., June 24.—An indictment for first degree murder was returned against Francisco Gimelante for the killing of Castellino Cepetino in Reading last Monday. Jealousy over a widow who was cook at a lumber camp is supposed to have led to the tragedy. Cepetino, who was the camp boss, was stabbed in the back.

GREAT SAENGERFEST ENDS

Two Societies Tied In Contest for the Kaiser's Trophy

New York, June 24.—A tie in the greatest vocal contest for the Kaiser prize between the Junger Maennerchor of Philadelphia and the Kreutzer Quartette of New York was announced last night, at the conclusion of the greatest festival in the fifty-nine years' history of the Northeastern Saengerbund.

In view of the tie the two societies will share possession of the imperial trophy until the next saengerfest, which will be held in Philadelphia in 1912.

The Germania of Newark was third in the Kaiser prize contest, the Concordia of Wilkesbarre was fourth and the Arion of Baltimore fifth. The trophy is a silver statuette of the Minnesaenger offered by Emperor William of Germany, to which was added a portrait painting of the emperor. The trophy does not become permanent property of a society until twice won.

Chief Witness For Brandenburg Was to Have Testified Today

New York, June 24.—Benjamin F. Kelley, a handwriting expert on whom Brighton Brandenburg relied to rebut the testimony of David N. Carvalho that Brandenburg wrote the signature of Grover Cleveland which was attached to the article that was sold to the New York Times, died suddenly Wednesday.

Less than an hour before his death Kelley was in consultation with Brandenburg's counsel, Samuel B. Thomas, who says that Kelley's death will greatly hamper the defense in the grand larceny case in that it may not be possible to obtain another expert in time.

Kelley was a victim of acute indigestion, aggravated by the heat. He collapsed and expired on Broadway.

WRIGHTS GRANTED

EXTENSION OF TIME

May Have Flying Machine Ready In About Ten Days

Washington, June 24.—Although the Wright brothers were yesterday granted an extension of thirty days in which to complete their official trials for the government, they are losing no time in completing their flying machine.

The first preliminary flight probably will be made on Friday. The motor was installed yesterday. Today the starting apparatus will be set up and the motor will be tested.

In asking for an extension the Wrights said that they did not believe it would be necessary to have more than ten days extra in which to make the speed and endurance test, but that as a matter of precaution and in order to avoid the necessity of asking for a further extension they desired thirty days. This request was immediately granted by the secretary of war.

IN TWENTY-TWO DAYS

Ford Car No. 2 Covers the Distance Between New York and Seattle

Seattle, June 24.—Ford car No. 2, winner of the New York-to-Seattle automobile race, reached the gates of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at 12:55 p. m., Wednesday, having covered the distance in 22 days and 55 minutes.

The car was met at Renton, several miles southwest of Seattle, by Seattle automobileists and escorted through a lane of people which crowded the business streets. The little racer, dusty and battered, looked anything but impressive in the company of big, bright touring machines. At the fair grounds gate a crowd cheered and waving flags.

Ford car No. 2 thus wins the Guggenheim trophy cup and $2000 purse.

"MORE SHAMES THAN STARS"

What Disgruntled Spanish Paper Has to Say of Old Glory

Havana, June 24.—The Diario Especial, the organ of extreme Spanish sentiment, inveighs bitterly against the proposed visit to Havana of the former Spanish cruiser Isla de Luzon, which was captured by Dewey at Manila, and which is now a training ship for the naval militia of Louisiana. Then he hurried to the rooms of his cousin with the intention of passing the night, but his curiosity got the better of him, and after two uneasy hours he sneaked back to the house, climbed the stairs, lifted himself to where he could peer through the transom and saw the room empty save for the trunk. That was enough for him. He hurried back to his cousin's and slept there that night. The cousin, when questioned, substantiated the story.

The next day he left for Amsterdam, N. Y., to work, near where he was later arrested.

The foregoing version of what Chung Sin saw and did is as given out by Assistant District Attorney Ward. Whether Chung Sin is telling the truth remains to be seen, but of all the widely varying accounts after the first inquisition the version as made public seems to be a conservative one.

Before the order went out that the case must not be discussed further, Assistant Ward was emphatic in decrying that Chung Sin was "put under the screws."

STILL HUNTING FOR LEON LING

Reports of Clues Prove to Be Without Foundation

CHUNG SIN TALKS AGAIN

Repeats Story of Seeing Handkerchief Stuffed Into Mouth of Elsie Sigel, but Had No Hand in Murder of Girl—Helped Leon Get Away Because They Both Belonged to Same Secret Society

New York, June 24.—After a day of conflicting statements, the district attorney's office, acting under instructions from Mr. Jerome, and the police department, under orders from Commissioner Bingham, refused further to discuss what progress has been made in the search for Leon Ling, the Chinaman who is wanted for the murder of Elsie Sigel, whose body was found in a trunk in a room over an Eighth avenue chop suey restaurant last Friday night.

Nor would they talk about the results of the examination of Chung Sin, Leon Ling's former roommate, who has been variously reported as having witnessed the crime, having helped to rope the trunk, and finally having merely seen the girl's body.

There have been hourly reports of clues from all parts of the country, but none of them, on close examination, brings the authorities any nearer to the murderer.

What progress has been made with Chung Sin, who yesterday afternoon underwent another four hours' cross-questioning by Captain Carey and his men of the homicide bureau and Mr. Ward of the district attorney's office, is due as much as anything to the offices of Quon Yick Nam, a Chinese merchant who volunteered as an interpreter and in whom the police have every confidence.

With more to gain than to lose by the truth, Chung Sin talked long and freely if not frankly, but that he has not been actually implicated in the crime is indicated by the fact that he is still held in the house of detention for witnesses and not in the Tombs.

Whatever may be the whole truth concerning the information Chung Sin yields, it is practically all the police have to go on. Chu Gain, the restaurant proprietor and admirer of the dead girl of whom Leon Ling was jealous, is out on $1000 bail, pumped dry; the other restaurant keeper, Sun Leung, and his waiters and cook, above whose place the body was found, are also out on bail in the sum of $100, and the minor importance attached to their knowledge is measured by the small amount of their bail.

Thus the case revolves around Chung Sin, at first thought to have told so much, but whose alleged confession became far less sensational upon further investigations.

To all questions he reiterates that he occupied the room next to that of Leon, and that on the afternoon of June 9, the day of the murder, he awakened to find Leon standing beside him. Leon was in trouble and wanted help. Chung Sin soon understood why when he saw the body lying across the bed. There was blood on the girl's lips and a stained handkerchief was stuffed into the mouth of the girl. The features, he said, were strained and black, but he saw no rope around the young woman's neck. Leon explained to him that the girl bit her tongue and bled to death.

When asked if that seemed plausible to him, Chung Sin admitted that he felt terrified and that his first impulse was to get out of the house as soon as he could. Before he left, however, Leon borrowed $200 from him, he said. They both belonged to the same secret society, he explained, and he felt bound by his oath to do that much for a fellow member.

Then he hurried to the rooms of his cousin with the intention of passing the night, but his curiosity got the better of him, and after two uneasy hours he sneaked back to the house, climbed the stairs, lifted himself to where he could peer through the transom and saw the room empty save for the trunk. That was enough for him. He hurried back to his cousin's and slept there that night. The cousin, when questioned, substantiated the story.

The next day he left for Amsterdam, N. Y., to work, near where he was later arrested.

Thousands of Gymnasts at Cincinnati Convention

Cincinnati, June 24.—More than 3000 gymnasts and athletes, representing every section of the United States and several European countries, are assembled in this city today to take part in the thirteenth quadrennial meeting of the travevaires, or German gymnastic societies, of America.

The monster athletic field at Carlisle in which the contests are to be held is the biggest in the United States. The stage measures 260 by 49 feet, and the grand stand alone seats 4000 persons. On the field are the tents in which many of the visiting gymnasts are housed during their stay in this city.

Today's parade of the turners and others was the biggest ever seen in Cincinnati. It included civic and military divisions as well as the turners themselves in their gymnastic uniforms. Thousands of school children, each carrying an American flag, were in line.

THE NEW CANAL

The Cape Cod canal will be a convenience to Portsmouth in at least one respect—it will promote quickness of passage of vessels between our city and the coal ports south of New York, and still more important, safety of passage.

The gain in time will not be great on every voyage, for the saving in distance is less than seventy-five miles, but the passage around Cape Cod by the outside route is a bad one.

The Consolidation Coal Company, and the other coal shippers will find it possible to send a vessel through the canal and keep her moving at times when she would be obliged to anchor at some refuge in rough weather, if the outside route were the only one available.

The builders of the canal have probably figured on this and are calculating that people will be willing to pay good tolls for the use of the new passage.

It will be of more value by promoting the all-water freight business between New York and Boston. This will make it more feasible to ship by water to Boston from ports north of that city, and there tranship for New York. Similarly stuff from small southern ports can be shipped to Boston via New York.

There already exists in New York a system of lightering freight from one vessel to another, but it is done in only a small way. With the possible growth of that business we may expect to see it greatly enlarged in New York and something of the kind established in Boston.

Out of all this, there comes nearer and nearer the long-hoped-for daily steamboat service between our port and Boston.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

Army officers' messes, which exist at most military posts for the convenience of unmarried officers who band together for economical subsistence, are the object of attack by temperance organizations. It is alleged that wines and liquors are dispensed at these messes in violation of the law which prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages within the limits of a military reservation. On the other hand, it is said that there is comparatively little drinking at such places as there are members of the messes who are teetotalers.

The simplest kind of food will cause belching of gas, heaviness, dizziness and biliousness if the stomach isn't right.

It's a very easy matter to set the stomach right and if you'll just swallow one of two little Mi-o-na tablets before, with or after meals, you'll discover that all stomach agony is unnecessary.

Mi-o-na is a big great help to a tired, worn-out or overworked stomach. It quickly puts it into such perfect condition that the most hearty meal can be eaten and digested with pleasure.

And please bear in mind that while Mi-o-na is guaranteed to quickly banish all the ordinary stomach ills that it is also guaranteed by Goodwin E. Philbrick to cure indigestion, gastritis, retarach of the stomach or money back.

It matters not how long standing is the disease Mi-o-na will cure if you give it a chance. If it doesn't you can have your money back.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets only costs 50 cents at Goodwin E. Philbrick's and leading druggists everywhere.

seen, however, that with the advent of an automatic weapon without a revolving chamber the word "revolver" may some day become equally inapt."

The authorities of the State college have sent an invitation to the granges of the state to visit Durham at such a day in August as may be most convenient for them and inspect the college buildings and the farm. Some of the professors with President Gibbs will be there to show and explain how work is done and instruction given in the various departments, from the farm and dairy work up, so that the farmers can see with their own eyes what sort of a place Durham is to which to send their sons and daughters for education. No farmer ever went to Durham without returning home with a better opinion of the institution there, after having looked it over carefully. One of the faults of the past has been that the farmers have not taken the trouble to go there and see for themselves how the work is being done and become familiar with the institution. Grange excursions like that proposed for next August, ought to have been organized several years ago, and then repeated annually. The New Hampshire legislature has treated this college liberally from year to year until a valuable plan has been placed at Durham and in 1911 the income will become available from the million dollar Thompson fund, so then the farmers' sons and daughters will have still further opportunities open to them for acquiring an education at a comparatively small cost to them in money expenditure.

Eat Your Favorite Food Without Any Fear or Distress.

Don't think you have catarrh of the stomach just because you are distressed after eating or have sour eructations.

The simplest kind of food will cause belching of gas, heaviness, dizziness and biliousness if the stomach isn't right.

It's a very easy matter to set the stomach right and if you'll just swallow one of two little Mi-o-na tablets before, with or after meals, you'll discover that all stomach agony is unnecessary.

Mi-o-na is a big great help to a tired, worn-out or overworked stomach. It quickly puts it into such perfect condition that the most hearty meal can be eaten and digested with pleasure.

And please bear in mind that while Mi-o-na is guaranteed to quickly banish all the ordinary stomach ills that it is also guaranteed by Goodwin E. Philbrick to cure indigestion, gastritis, retarach of the stomach or money back.

It matters not how long standing is the disease Mi-o-na will cure if you give it a chance. If it doesn't you can have your money back.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets only costs 50 cents at Goodwin E. Philbrick's and leading druggists everywhere.

Disasters

Civilization.

Disasters are accentuated in proportion to the degree of civilization where they occur. An icequake or tidal wave or some other similar convulsion may rend the Antarctic regions, destroying seals, polar bears and walruses by thousands, but it is no disaster.

Lightning may start a fire, which burns for months, destroying millions of great trees with all the vegetable and animal life they shelter; but if the burned forest is in some practically unknown and uninhabited district, it is no disaster, even though a possible loss to future generations.

Tornadoes may rage, volcanoes do their worst, subterranean caverns collapse, rats fail to fall for years, or cloudbursts overflow the rivers as never before; but if no human habitation was there, it is not a real disaster.

As we civilize, we create disaster. We flock into cities until the streets are over-crowded and accidents to life and limb occur hourly which are unknown to villages and small towns. We actually become a danger to each other by reason of our numbers. Where wireless telegraph saves a thousand from an ocean grave, tens of thousands find fatal diseases in poorly ventilated places of employment. Gas illumination is safer than oil lamps, yet more people are asphyxiated from worn gas fixtures than are burned to death from broken lamps, although lamp users largely outnumber the former. We constantly do new things to safeguard life, but all the while new dangers are created. Where ten are saved on fire escapes, twenty are killed at railroad crossings.

And so the battle wages between safeguards and new kinds of disaster.

Perhaps some day prevention will precede its cause.

LITERARY NOTES

The Emmanuel Movement

In his reply to Dr. Buckley's "Dangers of the Emmanuel Movement," to be published in the July Century, Dr. Worcester calls attention to an interesting entry in John Wesley's Journal under date of May 12, 1759, in which Wesley says in Part: "Why then do not all physicians consider how far bodily disorders are caused or influenced by the mind; and in those cases, which are utterly out of their sphere, call in the assistance of a minister; as ministers, when they find the mind disordered by the body, call in the assistance of a physician?"

Lt. Col. Zinn made the trip to the Forts on the engineering boat Norka and he was accompanied by Rear Admiral E. K. Moore U. S. N. and at the fort they were received with the usual military honors.

They were accompanied on their tour by Capt. McBride and the inspection included everything. This was followed by target practice with the three inch guns and some very good work was reported.

Lt. Col. Zinn returned to this city on the Norka and left last evening in his automobile for Portland. The Norka will leave this morning for the same place.

WHAT DRINK DID

A Great Biograph Feature at Music Hall

"What Drink Did" a production of the Biograph Company is the feature film at Music Hall. This picture is replete with fine acting and strong scenes. It shows the evil of the drink habit.

The other pictures include: "The Moonstone," "A Friend in Need," and "Physical Culture Surprise Party."

"Billy" Adams the character singer stays for the full week, today he will introduce Don Ramsay's new song "Twirl Me Over the Ball Room Floor." This is the big summer hit of the year.

The singers will be featured for the rest of the week. Leonas Belasco has a new song "Come And Tease The Moon With Me." This popular singer will surely make a hit with this one.

Art Spaulding has a swell ballad and as an extra attraction Leo Ormond will sing a couple of Dockstader hits.

STILL IMPROVING

Italian injured in the Cutting Scrape is in Better Condition and Will Recover

It is reported at the Cottage hospital that Ottavio DiPasqua the Italian who was so badly cut by Luigi Citrano on Tuesday was recovering from his injuries and while he would be at the hospital for several days he would recover. It was feared the night of the cutting that he had lost so much blood that he might not recover but he has shown remarkable strength and barring complications he will live. His assailant Luigi Citrano is still at liberty and the police have but little hope of getting him.

Two new teachers to take the place of those resigning were appointed at a special meeting of the school committee held this week.

The teachers who were not candidates for re-election were both from the high school and were Miss Grace Hooper, teacher of French, and Miss Mae Ashworth, instructor in the commercial department. Miss Lilian B. Latham was elected as teacher of French and algebra and her salary was voted to be $650. Miss Latham comes highly recommended from the Rumford, Me., high school. She is a graduate of Bates college. Miss Mabel L. Hayes was appointed as instructor in the commercial department, with a salary of $750. She is a graduate of New Hampshire college and has had considerable experience in teaching commercial branches.

The warm wave was somewhat moderated by the shift of the wind to the east on Wednesday afternoon, but last evening the temperature was up to eighty at ten o'clock and at mid night it had not dropped but a few degrees.

Eliot Boy Wins Honors at a New Hampshire Seminary

Eliot, Me., June 24.—The annual high school junior exhibit drew a large audience to the Congregational church on Wednesday evening. The audience room was prettily decorated in green with the 1910 class banner conspicuously figuring as the central feature of the decorations. Miss Florence G. Mrs. Martha Coleman will entertain the Eliot Women's Christian Temperance Union at her home on the Old Road on Friday afternoon.

Harry A. Knight, '09, was awarded the first prize at the boy's prize speaking, Tilton Seminary, Tilton, N. H., this week.

Raymond Knight has been appointed an apprentice draftsman at the navy yard.

KITTERY LETTER

Capt. and Mrs. James Burke set sail in the afternoon for the Isles of Shoals. Only a few of the stores on board were missing. The thief was seen by many here who supposed him to be an assistant keeper at the Shoals and rightfully in possession of the boat. When he stranded, he was rowed ashore by Oliver L. Frisbee, and immediately disappeared.

Stratford Wentworth of Cambridge, Mass., has rented the small cottage of Dr. John W. Van Rensselaer on Jamaica Island for the summer.

Walter S. Acee has gone to Boston today to purchase an engine for his new motor boat.

Mrs. Ellen Frisbee and Mrs. Julia Graham are in Laconia, N. H., attending the annual meeting of the State Free Baptist Society.

Barge No. 5 and No. 18 arrived this morning from Baltimore with 3200 tons of coal for Portsmouth. Barge No. 22 sailed in tow for Baltimore.

Schooners Edward E. Dilley and Massachusetts have sailed from Baltimore and Newport News respectively with coal for this port.

To go from Kittery Point to Portsmouth it now costs twelve cents by electric, eleven cents by train and eight a third cents by boat.

Isles of Shoals steamer Sam Adams, which was towed here last week after losing her propeller outside, has had repairs made and is in commission.

It is not often that all three of the Piscataqua Navigation company get a few idle moments at the same time, but this morning there was seen the unusual sight of the Portsmouth, the Piscataqua and the M. Mitchell Davis tied up abreast of each other at their dock in Portsmouth for a short while between jobs.

Although rain fell in torrents in portions of Kittery and the navy yard at about eleven o'clock Wednesday morning not a drop touched the ground here.

The dust nuisance is one of the worst during the prevalent hot weather. The sprinkling cart might be put in commission without making any enemies to speak of. The passage of every vehicle raises a stifling cloud, which is the more aggravating considering the fact that it might be so easily remedied.

INTERNATIONAL POLO GAMES

London, June 23.—The Meadow Brook Club's polo team from Westbury, L. I., won the first game in the international match played at Hurlingham today for the American polo cup, scoring nine goals to five for the English team.

Got Full Weight.

"Sir," says the aggrieved customer approaching the bookseller, "I have called to express my opinion of your business methods."

"What is wrong?" deferentially asked the bookseller.

"I bought a set of Shakespeare from you last year. It weighed fourteen pounds. Yesterday I ordered a duplicate set for my son's library, and it only weighs thirteen pounds and nine ounces. I'd have you understand, sir, that there is city ordinance against short weights."

Thoroughly bumbled, the bookseller made up the shortage with seven ounces of miscellany—Exchange.

Anxious For More.

An expert golfer had the misfortune to play a particularly vigorous stroke at the moment that a seedy wayfarer slunk across the edge of the course. The ball struck the trespasser and rendered him briefly insensible. When he recovered a five dollar bill was pressed into his hand by the grateful golfer. "Thank you, sir," said the injured man after a kindling glance at the money, "an' when will you be playin' again, sir?"—Argonaut.

MARY TYLER WILDES

Mrs. Wildes passed away at her home in Andover, Mass. Monday afternoon. Forty years have gone by since Mary Wildes was the center of a large circle of friends in Portsmouth. Together with her husband, Lieut. George T. Wildes, she was prominent in the choir and belonged in the Middle Street Baptist Church and Society. Her brilliant and amiable social qualities endeared and delighted a host of friends. She and her husband were peculiarly adapted to each other, and when George T. Wildes answered the Country's call and left Portsmouth with Lieutenant's commission in Capt. Jos. H. Thacher's company every one of their many friends as much regretted his departure as they lauded and praised his loyalty and self-sacrificing spirit. He left his wife in great sadness, but surrounded by kind friends and sympathizers and went to the front away down south in Louisiana where he was taken away not long ago.

THE NAVY YARDS HERE AND AWAY

ARMED TO THE TEETH

The Boston papers state that the marine guards of the working parties of naval prisoners who were engaged about the Charlestown navy yard yesterday presented a formidable appearance. Instead of the long, old-fashioned billys which the guards formerly swung as they stood by watching the prisoners at work, each wore a big holster containing one of the latest pattern navy, rapid-fire revolvers. Each prison police guard, is the marines on duty are known, had instructions to shoot if a prisoner attempted to escape by running. The prisoners were also given distinctly to understand that there would be no warnings or calls to stop, and no shooting over anyone's head; that if one attempted to escape the guard was to shoot. The marksmanship of the guard, all of whom have had target practice with their revolvers, is declared to be excellent. Since the recent escape of five prisoners from the prison a couple of months ago, armed marine sentries now patrol the outside of the prison at night and when the men are locked up in the prison.

Lotto do on the Eagle

The survey and estimate for the work on the gunboat Eagle is being made and it is said the repairs necessary will exceed the amount done at this yard in past years.

In Hospital at Honolulu

Working Overtime

Work on the New Hampshire is being rushed especially that on the iron turrets of the vessel. On Wednesday several of the machinists were on the job until 10 p. m.

Boys Examined

Several boy apprentices for the different trades appeared for the examination held at the yard today.

Married at Burlington

Lieut. Thomas D. Barber, U. S. M. C., attached to the yard marine barracks, who was recently married at Burlington, Vt., has returned from his wedding tour and taken up temporary quarters at the Rockingham.

Mechanics and Helpers

The list discharged on Wednesday included machinists, pipe fitters, boilermakers' helpers and machinists' helpers.

DOVER DOING THE HONORS

Pilgrim Commandery of Lagonia is being entertained by the Dover commandery at York Beach today.

The broad cool veranda of the Portsmouth Yacht club building is not lacking for occupants on such sultry evenings as those of the past few days.

Leont Belasco, Soprano Soloist, at Music Hall.

THE OBSERVANT CITIZEN

We notice the block paving on Market street is in a dirty condition and a little brushing at the present time would improve it.

Also that job on Hanover street is long drawn out. There must be a reason—what is it?

At a recent visit to the Central Fire station it was noticed that some new matting and window shades would greatly improve the looks of things.

Also the ladder truck is looking quite shabby and should be replaced by a new and up to date piece of apparatus.

By the way—speaking of the ladder truck and its absence (also the members of the company) from recent fires—would it not be a good idea to place some ladders in different sections of the city, so that they would be available.

And we also notice some fruit stands about the city that are not quite so neat in their surroundings as they should be. OBSERVER. Portsmouth, June 24.
